9) Documentation of the Securities

This Term Sheet has been prepared by Crédit Agricole Corporate and Investment Bank or one of its Affiliates (together with their respective directors, officers or employees ("Crédit Agricole CIB")) and has been provided to you on a confidential basis, solely for your use, and is for discussion purposes only. The information contained in this Term Sheet is based on sources that CACIB considers to be reliable, however, no representation, warranty or assurance is made that such information is complete or up-to-date.

It is not intended to be a binding contractual document and does not constitute a prospectus within the meaning of the Regulation (EU) 2017/1129 (the "Prospectus Regulation").

In order to fully understand this Term Sheet it should be reviewed in conjunction with the Base Prospectus dated 10 May 2024, together with any supplements to that Base Prospectus (the "Base Prospectus"), issued in connection with the Structured Debt Instruments Issuance Programme for Crédit Agricole Corporate and Investment Bank, Crédit Agricole CIB Financial Solutions and Crédit Agricole CIB Finance Luxembourg S.A.

The Base Prospectus may be found at: <https://www.documentation.ca-cib.com/IssuanceProgram>.

Any Securities, if purchased by you, will be evidenced solely by the Final Terms together with the Base Prospectus (the "Security Documentation"), however, if any Securities are issued then it shall be on the basis of the "Terms of Sale" section set out below and the provisions and notifications set out in that section. The Security Documentation supersedes and replaces the indicative information set out in this Term Sheet. Capitalised terms not specifically defined in this Term Sheet shall have the meanings given to them in the Base Prospectus and references to "General Conditions" in this Term Sheet are to the relevant specified General Conditions(s) set out in the Terms and Conditions of the Securities in the Base Prospectus

10) Significant Risks

a) Risks Factors relating to the Securities

The risk of loss related to these Securities is similar to an investment in the Underlying(s). Therefore, Securityholders could lose some or all of the capital invested in the Unfavourable Scenario.

b) Additional Risks Factors

Prospective investors should ensure that they fully understand the nature of this Product and the extent of their exposure to risks and they should consider the suitability of this Product as an investment in the light of their own circumstances and financial condition. Products involve a high degree of risk, including the potential risk of expiring worthless. Potential investors should be prepared in certain circumstances to sustain a total loss of the capital invested to purchase this Product. Prospective investors shall consider the following important risk factors and see the section "Risk Factors" of the Base Prospectus for details on all other risk factors to be considered.

This is a structured product involving derivative components. Investors should make sure that their advisors have verified that this Product is suitable for the portfolio of the investor taking into account the investor's financial situation, investment experience and investment objectives.

The terms and conditions of the Product may be subject to adjustments during the lifetime of the Product as set out in the Base Prospectus.

Investors whose usual currency is not the currency in which the Product is redeemed should be aware of their possible currency risk. The value of the Product may not correlate with the value of the Underlying(s).

Not a protected deposit: the Securities are NOT equivalent to, nor should they be treated as, time deposits. The Securities are not covered by the Financial Services Compensation Scheme or any other deposit protection scheme.

No Collateral: the Securities are not secured on any of the Issuer's assets or on any collateral.

Potential Loss: the potential maximum return under the Securities is capped but the potential loss could be significant and, in the worst case, could be the entire nominal amount of any investment in the Securities. Amounts payable under the Securities are dependent on, amongst other things, the creditworthiness of the Issuer/Guarantor and its ability to perform its obligations. Securityholders should be aware that the Final Redemption Amount is only payable on the Redemption Date; if the Securities are redeemed early Securityholders could receive a significantly lower amount than would otherwise have been payable on the Redemption Date.

Early Redemption at Issuer Discretion: An optional redemption feature of Securities is likely to limit their market value. During any period when the Issuer may elect to redeem Securities, the market value of the Securities generally will not rise substantially above the price at which they can be redeemed.

The Issuer may be expected to redeem Securities when it is in its financial interests to do so. Such financial interests may be determined based on various factors, including without limitation, the Issuer's funding costs, prevailing market conditions and any costs associated with the Issuer maintaining any hedges it has put in place. At those times, a Securityholder generally would not be able to reinvest the redemption proceeds at an effective interest rate as high as the interest rate on the Securities being redeemed and may only be able to reinvest at a significantly lower rate (or upon the assumption of greater investment risk). Potential Securityholders should consider reinvestment risk in light of other investments available at that time.

Indicative Pricing: the indicative bid and ask prices of any Securities and other debt instruments referred to in this Term Sheet (collectively "debt instruments"), may be subject to significant fluctuations at any time between the Issue Date and the Redemption Date.

Liquidity: the Securities are not liquid instruments. This means that Securityholders may not be able to sell Securities easily or quickly or at prices that will provide them with a yield comparable to similar investments that have a developed secondary market. An illiquid or undeveloped secondary market may inhibit or delay the sale of Securities or reduce the proceeds of Securities upon any such sale. CACIB does not guarantee that it will make a secondary market for the Securities. Please see the "Secondary Market" paragraph contained within the "Other Provisions" section above which sets out the basis upon which CACIB is to provide indicative prices.

Inflation Risk: the risk of a negative real rate (nominal rate inflation-adjusted) is all the greater when inflation is high. Therefore, a rise in inflation may lead to a loss of real yield for investors. Unless otherwise specified, the rates expressed in this document are nominal rates.

Leverage: where Securities involve leverage, it must be recognised that, whilst leverage presents opportunities to increase profit, it also may have the effect of exacerbating losses. Such losses may therefore significantly diminish the performance of the Securities in a relatively short time.

Mark-to-Market: the market value of the Securities may fluctuate based upon the following factors:

- the funding rate of the Issuer;
- the spot and forward levels of the relevant Underlying(s);
- the implied volatility of the relevant Underlying(s);
- market interest rates; and
- market liquidity.

Adverse events before the Issue Date: if Securityholders agree to purchase any Securities, then they will be required to complete that purchase of the Securities on the Issue Date irrespective of the occurrence of any adverse market changes, events or announcements in the period between the Trade Date and the Issue Date (such occurrences may result in a significant decline in the market value of the Securities and may include a market disruption).

Issuer/ Guarantor: there is a possibility that the Issuer and/or Guarantor could fail. In the unlikely event the Issuer and/or Guarantor becomes insolvent or defaults in respect of its obligations under the Securities, Securityholders may be unable to recover amounts owed on the Securities.

Credit Rating: any credit rating assigned to the Issuer, the Guarantor or the Securities may not reflect all of the relevant risks associated with the Securities, may be withdrawn or varied at any time and is not a recommendation in respect of the Securities.

Calculation Agent: the Calculation Agent will make determinations in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner. However, the Calculation Agent has an absolute discretion to make determinations and adjustments in respect of the Securities which could have a material effect on the market value of the Securities. Any such determinations are final and binding on the Issuer and the Securityholders.

Risks relating to Notes denominated in CNY or CNH: Where the Notes are denominated in CNY or CNH, prospective investors in the Notes should be aware that CNY is not freely convertible at present. The government of the People's Republic of China (the PRC) continues to regulate conversion between CNY and foreign currencies despite the significant reduction over the years by the PRC government of control over routine foreign exchange transactions under current accounts.

As a result of the restrictions by the PRC government on cross-border CNY fund flows, the availability of CNY outside the PRC is limited. As a part of its relaxation of control over foreign exchange transactions under current accounts, the PRC government introduced a pilot scheme in July 2009 whereby participating banks in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of the PRC are permitted to engage in the settlement of CNY trade transactions, which represents a current account activity. The pilot scheme was extended in July 2010 to cover 20 provinces and cities in the PRC and further extended in August 2011 to cover the whole nation.

The People's Bank of China (the PBOC) issued in October 2011 the Renminbi Foreign Direct Investment Settlement Rules (the Renminbi Rules) in order to expand cross-border use of CNY in trade and investment. Under the Renminbi Rules, in relation to CNY settled foreign direct investment, special approval from the PBOC, which was previously required, is no longer necessary.

There is no assurance that the PRC government will continue to gradually liberalise the control over crossborder CNY remittances in the future or that new PRC regulations will not be promulgated in the future which have the effect of restricting the remittance of CNY into or outside the PRC.

The current size of CNY-denominated financial assets outside the PRC is limited. Although it is expected that the offshore CNY market will continue to grow in depth and size, its growth is subject to many constraints as a result of PRC laws and regulations on foreign exchange. The limited availability of CNY outside the PRC may affect the liquidity of the Notes. To the extent the Issuer is required to source CNY in the offshore market to service the Notes, there is no assurance that the Issuer will be able to source such CNY on satisfactory terms, if at all.

There can be no assurance that access to CNY or CNH funds for the purposes of making payments under the Notes or generally will remain available or will not become restricted. The value of CNY or CNH against foreign currencies fluctuates and is affected by changes in the PRC's and international political and economic conditions and by many other factors. As a result, foreign exchange fluctuations between an investor's home currency and CNY or CNH may affect investors who intend to convert gains or losses from the sale or redemption of the Notes into their home currency.

Where the Notes are denominated in CNY or CNH, all payments to investors in respect of the Notes will be made solely by transfer to a CNY bank account maintained in the CNY Settlement Centre (for this purpose, excluding the PRC) in accordance with prevailing rules and procedures. The Issuer cannot be required to make payment by any other means (including in any other currency or by transfer to a bank account in the PRC unless otherwise specified in the applicable Final Terms).

The PRC government has gradually liberalised the regulation of interest rates in recent years. Further liberalisation may increase interest rate volatility. With respect to any Notes which carry a fixed interest rate, the value of such Notes will vary with the fluctuations in the CNY or CNH interest rates. If a Noteholder tries to sell such Notes before their maturity, he may receive an offer that is less than the amount he has invested.

The occurrence of a CNY Currency Event may lead to postponement of payments under the Notes, payment in an alternative currency or early redemption of the Notes.

CACIB is not obliged to disclose any such information or interest, which may adversely affect the performance of any transaction described in this Term Sheet.

Pricing: Any final pricing with respect to the Securities will be dependent on prevailing market conditions and other commercial factors at the time the sale of any security is actually concluded. Any reference to an issue price is not necessarily an expression of the market value of the Securities and the initial placement of the Security (if issued) may be executed at prices above or below such issue price.

No Offer: Nothing in this Term Sheet should be considered as an offer to sell, the solicitation of an offer to purchase or a recommendation to invest in any Security.

Non-Reliance: CACIB is acting solely in the capacity of an arm's length counterparty and is not acting as your fiduciary or advisor. Nothing in this Term Sheet should be considered as a recommendation to purchase any Securities. CACIB makes no recommendation or representation as to the suitability of any Securities (to the extent permitted by law) or the tax, legal, regulatory or accounting treatment of any Securities. You should ensure that, prior to purchasing any Securities, you have: (i) fully investigated, analysed and understood the potential risks, rewards and implications of doing so; and (ii) determined the suitability of the Securities for your purposes in the context of your own particular investment objectives, needs and circumstances.

No Advice: Structured transactions are complex and may involve a high risk of loss. Prior to entering into a transaction you should consult with your own legal, regulatory, tax, financial and accounting advisors to the extent you consider it necessary, and make your own investment, hedging and trading decisions (including decisions regarding the suitability of this transaction) based upon your own judgment and advice from those advisers you consider necessary. Save as otherwise expressly agreed in writing, the Issuer is not acting as your financial adviser or fiduciary in any transaction.

Sustainability features of the Securities: Unless specifically mentioned as applicable in the term sheet no sustainability features will be relevant to any Securities. If sustainability features are specified as applicable, please ask your usual CACIB contact for more information regarding the sustainability features of the Securities if required. A summary of environmental, social or governance (“ESG”) and sustainability features that may be relevant in relation to the Securities can be found on our website here. Please be aware that any ESG or sustainability features of the Securities, including any label, any assessment of alignment with ESG objectives, whether in accordance with Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 November 2019 on sustainability-related disclosures in the financial services sector (“SFDR”), Regulation (EU) 202/852 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 18 June 2020 on the establishment of a framework to facilitate sustainable investment (the “EU Taxonomy Regulation”) or otherwise, and any determination made in connection with investor sustainability preferences (and all related data), represent such features at the time of the determination and may change over time (including in a manner which is adverse from an ESG or sustainability perspective and which could result in declassification or re-labelling, misalignment with relevant objectives and preferences, and investment losses. None of the Issuer, any dealer, any distributor nor any other party assumes any responsibility should any ESG or sustainability features materially diverge from an initial label or assessment provided. To the extent that you have obligations in relation to the determination of ESG or sustainability features under SFDR or similar legislation applicable in another jurisdiction which is relevant to you, you should satisfy yourself of your own compliance with such obligations and should not rely on determinations made by CACIB. None of the Issuer, any dealer, any distributor nor any other party assumes any responsibility to monitor performance against ESG or sustainability features during the term of the Securities except to the extent required by applicable legislation or unless otherwise agreed in writing by CACIB.
